Opal Catlin Describes Conditions At Nome, Alaska

LETTER FROM OPAL: Remember Opal Catlin?

Mrs. Catlin was around here several years as a hospital nurse and a school nurse and she took care of the Christmas Seal campaigns for a long long time. She also was very well acquainted with Santa Claus.

Opal went to Hawaii as a nurse and spent a spell and returned home for a visit with some Hawaiian expressions. She's gone now. She went to Alaska as a nurse and today she writes Timotheus from Nome.

I said up in the preceding paragraph "today she writes," which isn't correct. The letter was written from Nome April 26 and I got it today. I know you'd rather listen to Opal than Timmo; so here goes:

"Dear Tim: It's 8 p. m. Bering Standard Time, 3 p. m. Central Standard Time.

"Up here, it is broad daylight and will be now for another hour. At 3 a. m. it also will be daylight. This being my day off, I finally wind up torturing the typewriter. In Nome, there is nothing to do. (Timotheus suggests that in Nome, she should do as the Nomans do.)

"Right now it is a sea of mud in the streets, and we all look alike as far as our feet are concerned. Not too cold, just 26 above, and the kids are still playing wood tag outside. Some wear jeans and parkas, some have bare legs and short socks, but parkas and overshoes are worn by them, too.

"Twice a day I plod through the mud to the hospital and return. My room there in the nurses' quarters will not be vacant until the first of May. In the meantime the hospital is putting me at the hotel. Living at the hospital will not do away with the mud, however. I will still plod through it when I come to town. It really isn't as bad as it sounds, however.

"One of the reactions newcomers get up here is something that would not have surprised me in the tropics (the girls been around), but does surprise me here. We are sleepy. Never fell so sleepy so much of the time in all my life. They tell me it will pass and I hope it does soon.

"I never saw people eat as much as they do up here, either. Part of it is a physical demand for more food to supply heat. The rest is psychological reaction — nothing else to do. People either eat or drink to pass the time away.

"Fire is a great hazard up here. Loss is hard to replace. There is a fire department in Nome, but the hydrants are usually frozen up and seldom is a building saved, they tell me. Only recently have they been building out of anything like concrete. The federal building, the hotel, the bank, the hospital, are supposedly fireproof buildings. Aloha, Opal.

"P. S.: That was Monday. Today is Wednesday. We have weather. All planes grounded. The airport is not equipped to guide them in by instruments. We will not have any mail until it clears. Wow! We are all white again. My best to all the staff. Opal."

HUMOR DEPT.: "Her husband was a judge, wasn't he?" "Everybody thought so until he married her."

FINALE: He's the kind of guy who makes coffee nervous.

Britain Agrees To Preliminary Talks on Pact

Diplomatic Report Follows Appeal By Eisenhower

GENEVA — Great Britain has agreed to begin preliminary talks for a Southeast Asia pact against aggression even before conclusion of the Geneva conference, informed diplomats reported tonight.

The diplomatic report came on the heels of an appeal from President Eisenhower in Washington to free nations to forge now a collective security system to guard Southeast Asia against Communist aggression.

Britain's agreement to start preliminary discussions now on the American-proposed NATO-like alliance, it was believed, may have been the basis for the President's assertion that "considerable progress" had been made.

A London report said talks already were under way at the military staff level.

Line Up Free Countries

At almost the moment the President was addressing his Washington news conference, British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd was telling the House of Commons that "no discussions have been arranged" on a Southeast Asia security pact. The apparent conflict between the Geneva report and Lloyd's statement was believed to lie in the difference between formal diplomatic arrangements and preliminary military discussions.

Earlier reports today had said the United States and Britain were pushing a drive to line up Pacific and Southeast Asian countries, including India, against further Red aggression.

Informed sources said their aim was to get guarantees for a strong stand, once a truce is signed in Indochina, against renewed Communist aggression from Australia, New Zealand, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia.

Eden, Dulles Pushed Effort

The drive was started in talks between British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Since Dulles return to Washington, Eden has discussed the need for international peace guarantees with Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, now head of the U. S. delegation at Geneva conference.

Eden and Smith pushed their efforts behind-the-scenes as the conference is in recess until Friday when discussion on a Korean political settlement will be resumed.

President Still Backs Stevens Against McCarthy

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower said today that he still is backing Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens to the limit in the dispute with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Mr. Eisenhower said that he has talked to Stevens several times since the congressional hearings started on the McCarthy-Army dispute. The most recent time was last Friday noon.

The President said that he hoped that America may derive benefits from the hearings to offset what has been lost in the way of international prestige and national respect.

He said that when he said last week that he hoped the hearings would be concluded quickly, he did not mean that he favored cutting them off before the Congress got effective answers to the main issues involved.

Legion Urges Steps To Free Americans Held in N. Korea

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — The American Legion's National Executive Committee urged the U. S. government Tuesday "to take all steps necessary" to free between 1,500 and 3,000 Americans believed held by the North Korean Communists.

The committee proposed that a special commission be set up "to investigate and report" on the status of missing servicemen.

It cited evidence that between 1,500 and 3,000 Americans are still held by the Reds. Under terms of the truce, all should have been returned or accounted for, the Legion's foreign relations commission said.

The commission also said free nations should unite in a common cause and notify the Communists that any further aggression in Indochina "will not be tolerated."

Find Body of Second Drowning Victim in River

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill. — The body of Ray Merritt, 36, of Cline, one of four persons who drowned in the Ohio river last Friday, was recovered from the river near here today.

Several fishermen saw the body floating down the river and brought it to shore. Identification was made from a fishing license found in a pocket.

Merritt; Charles Reynolds, 22, Mills Shoals; Walter D. Conaway Jr., 25, Fairfield, and Johnny Hollinger, 12, Mills Shoals, drowned when their fishing boat sank near Cave-in-Rock during a rainstorm. Reynolds' body was recovered in dragging operations Saturday.

Guy Parrish, the only survivor of the boating accident, formerly resided in Harrisburg. Here he was an announcer for WEBQ and later announced for WROY at Carmi before going to Fairfield.

No Upsets in Five Primaries; Sparkman Wins

WASHINGTON — Primary returns formed the lineup in five states today for next November's election that will decide control of Congress.

Local issues dominated the elections in Alabama, Indiana, Ohio, New Mexico, and Florida. There were no significant upsets.

Voters marked ballots for candidates for three United States Senate seats, 53 House seats, and four governorships.

Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.), the 1952 Democratic vice presidential candidate, won the nomination in his state over Rep. Laurie Battle. Nomination in Alabama is tantamount to election in most cases.

Rep. George H. Bender won the Republican nomination for senator in Ohio. He will oppose Sen. Thomas A. Burke in the November election for the seat vacated by the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. Burke, appointed to complete Taft's unexpired term, was unopposed in the Democratic primary.

The third Senate seat vote was in New Mexico but the candidates, Edwin Mechem, Republican, and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, Democrat, were both unopposed in the primary races.

James E. (Kissing Jim) Folsom led a slate of seven candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor of Alabama. But his commanding lead over his closest opponent, state Sen. Jimmy Faulkner, was not enough to eliminate the need for a runoff primary. More than 50 per cent of the total vote is required by the leading candidate to eliminate the runoff contest.

A runoff election also appeared certain for the Democratic nomination for governor of Florida. Acting Gov. Charles E. Johns held a narrow margin over State Sen. Leroy Collins. A third candidate, J. Bradley Oldham, was far behind.

The only primary race for nomination as governor in New Mexico was on the Republican ticket. Rancher-legislator Alvin Stockton led Mayor Holm Bursum of Socorro, the Republican machine, choice for the right to oppose Democrat John Simms Jr., in the fall election. Simms was unopposed.

Candidates for the nomination for governor in Ohio on both the Republican and Democratic tickets were unopposed. The candidates, Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Democrat, and face Republican state Auditor James A. Rhodes in the fall election.

Aunt of Mrs. O. T. Sweeney Dies at Vienna

Mrs. Zerelda Hodges, 81, an aunt of Mrs. O. T. Sweeney, Harrisburg, died Tuesday afternoon at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Mable Marberry, in Vienna.

The body is now at the Murrie funeral home in Vienna where a short service will be held Thursday morning. The body will then be taken to the Nales funeral home in Fairfield, where she is a former resident, where the funeral will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. Rev. G. W. Whiteside will officiate, and burial will be in the Fairfield cemetery.

State Bar Ass'n
Opens Annual Meeting

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. — The 78th annual meeting of the Illinois Bar Association opened here today with a meeting of the board of governors, the policy making body of the organization.

About 1,000 attorneys were expected to attend the three-day meeting.

Association President Timothy I. McKnight of Chicago, presided over the 20-man board meeting which was expected to last the day.

Air Force to Take No Action Against POWs

Cpl. Dickenson is Found Guilty by Army Court Martial

WASHINGTON — The Air Force will take no court martial action against 83 former prisoners of the Reds in Korea, including 36 who made false germ warfare "confessions."

It dismissed 69 of the cases "without prejudice of any sort" but raised questions of the "continued usefulness" of the other 14. They were ordered to show cause why they should be kept in the Air Force.

Air Force sources said if the 14 are discharged it will probably be under honorable conditions. The Air Force said it does not intend to make the names public.

The Air Force announcement came a few hours after an Army military court sentenced Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, 23-year old mountain boy from Cracker's Neck, Va., to a dishonorable discharge and 10 years hard labor for collaborating with his Communist captors and informing on fellow POWs.

However, Dickenson's conviction will be reviewed automatically by Maj. Gen. John H. Stokes, commander of the military district of Washington, and by an Army board of review. It can then be appealed to the U. S. Court of Military Appeals.

Guy Emery, Dickenson's civilian lawyer, called the conviction a "travesty of justice." He said he plans to take it to the military appeals court if the verdict is not overturned earlier.

President Eisenhower also has power to pardon the youthful soldier.

The Army, also has filed court martial charges against Corporal Claude J. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex., who, like Dickenson, first refused to leave his Red captors but later changed his mind and came home.

PEORIA, Ill. — Maj. Gen. William Dean, the most famous American prisoner of war in Korea, said he feels the verdict returned against Cpl. Edward Dickenson was fair.

Dean said he had not followed Dickenson's case in detail and did not comment directly on it. He said, however, that "if I were innocent I would want to be tried by a court martial—if I were guilty I would not."

Dean, commander of the 8th Army at the start of the Korean war, was captured during its early stages and spent the rest of the conflict in captivity.

Mrs. Carl Rude Discusses Hobbies At Kiwanis Club

The value of hobbies for both men and women was emphasized last night at the Kiwanis club meeting at the Masonic temple by Mrs. Carl Rude, who also displayed certain articles which she has made.

"Men are easily bored and need a hobby to take up part of the time away from their jobs or professions," Mrs. Rude said.

Ceramics as a hobby is being practiced by many local women at the present time, most of whom have learned by the trial method, and many are turning out artistically beautiful articles. The hobby can be practiced by anyone and articles may be made by even the unskilled, Mrs. Rude said.

There is no limit if a person is artistically gifted, she added.

Making of ceramic articles as a hobby was started here by Mrs. Roy L. Seright, and many other women have taken up the hobby and are making many different ceramic items.

Mrs. Rude displayed some of her own items and some porcelain and figurine items made by Mrs. Seright.

"Hobbies keep a person young and leave less time to be old," Mrs. Rude concluded.

Special guests at the meeting last night were Sadi Binay, Ankara, Turkey; Turan Sahin, Ayancik, Turkey; and Edip Ozturk, Bolu, Turkey, who are studying forestry methods in this country for the Turkish government.

Julian Vallette, Edwardsville, and a Mr. Brown, Marion, were visiting Kiwanians at last night's meeting.

Army-McCarthy Hearings Plunged Into Angry New Controversy

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army-McCarthy hearings were plunged today over the authenticity of a document which Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy had described as an FBI letter warning the Army in 1951 of security risks at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

Robert A. Collier, assistant Senate counsel in the hearings, testified on the basis of a two-hour talk with FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover that the document was not a copy of any letter in FBI files.

This led Army counsel Joseph N. Welch to inquire, in a question to Collier, if it was not "a perfect phony."

But McCarthy asserted the document was an "accurate summary" of an FBI report, and demanded that the investigators ask Hoover to verify this.

Collier agreed that the three-page

Army Hearings Are Disgrace to Senate: Truman

WASHINGTON (UP)—Former President Truman said today the McCarthy-Army hearings are "a disgrace to the Senate."

"I'm sorry to see it," Mr. Truman said as he arrived here by train for a two-day Democratic National committee meeting.

Smiling and jovial, the former President declined to comment further on the senatorial investigation.

Mr. Truman discussed a number of subjects in a friendly chatty talk with a United Press reporter who boarded the train at nearby Silver Spring, Md. His manner became grave when the conversation turned to the Indochina crisis.

"A man can't intelligently comment on that until he has all of the facts," he said.

"I don't want to embarrass the President on foreign policy. They spent plenty of time trying to embarrass me on mine, but my sympathies are all with the President."

"I don't want to say anything that in any way would cause him any trouble."

Mr. Truman recalled that he did not hesitate to commit U. S. forces in Korea without the prior approval of Congress.

Mr. Eisenhower has said he would not send American forces to Indochina without congressional approval.

"My attitude on the Korean situation was to sustain the United Nations," Mr. Truman said. "But I don't know enough about the situation in Indochina to make an intelligent comment."

3 Negroes Rob Olmstead Bank Of $20,000

OLMSTED, Ill. — Three Negro men carrying revolvers robbed the First State Bank of Olmstead of about $20,000 shortly after the bank opened for business at 9 a. m. today.

Cashier J. A. Rutherford said the bandits ordered him, Mrs. Thelma Bagby and Mrs. Mary Brown, both assistant cashiers, and Mrs. Molly Mason, a customer, into the bank vault while they scooped up the money from cashiers' trays and the vault. The robbers, whom Rutherford described as looking "like hardened criminals," tried to lock the vault but failed.

Persons outside the bank said the holdup men fled in a late model green Oldsmobile car—with reports varying in model from 1951 to 1953. They were reported to have headed south and state police and Cairo city police threw up roadblocks on bridges and along highways between here and Cairo.

Police were checking all automobiles and state police also ordered in an airplane to aid in the search. Rutherford said that when the bandits entered he tripped a burglar alarm which sounded in a building next to the bank. However, the persons in the building did not enter the bank until the bandits had escaped and then they aided Rutherford and the three women get out of the vault.

Rutherford said the holdup men tried to lock the vault combination after ordering the four persons into the vault but the combination failed to catch. The cashier was able to get out of the vault in 5 or 10 minutes.

The bandits were not masked and Rutherford said he got a good look at their features. He described all three as "big men."

Says Alliance Would Affect Geneva Parley

President Praises Dulles' Diplomacy In Present Crisis

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today appealed to free nations to forge now a collective security system to guard Southeast Asia against Communist aggression.

The President emphasized in a formal statement at his news conference that there is a "general sense of urgency" to fashion the alliance because it "could have an important bearing upon what happens at Geneva during the Indochina phase of the conference."

The President said that countries in the area were thinking in constructive terms, "which include the indispensable concept of collective security."

"Progress in this matter has been considerable and I am convinced that further progress will be continued to be made," the President declared.

Prods Britain

The President did not mention Britain's refusal to go along with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' plan for immediate "united action" in defending Indochina and Southeast Asia against Communist aggression pending the outcome of the Geneva conference. But his statement was clearly designed to prod Britain and any other nations to line up now.

Mr. Eisenhower at the same time:

1. Gave his complete support to Dulles and his diplomacy in the present critical situation. He said Dulles is the greatest secretary of state within his memory and has his unqualified support. He had been asked if he were fully satisfied with Dulles' handling of the Geneva conference.

2. Rejected claims that American foreign policy had suffered a defeat at Geneva. The President said a battle cannot be counted lost while it is still going on and that there is no such thing as acknowledging a defeat of foreign policy so far as he is concerned.

3. Rejected a Communist proposal at Geneva for a Korean unification. He described it as a "scheme" which was the Chinese copy of the Soviet scheme for the unification of Germany.

He pointed out that this scheme was rejected for Germany and Dulles had told him that the Communist plan was "equally unacceptable" to the Republic of Korea and the United Nations members who took part in the Korean War.

Declared that the Geneva conference has produced no surprises and that it had not turned into a five-power conference, as Russia had tried to make it by raising Red China's status to that of a major world power. And he asserted that the Geneva conference "has not involved establishing expressed or implied diplomatic recognition by the United States of the Chinese Communist aggressors."

Bars Questions

The President read his 500-word statement on the Far East and then barred any questions about it because of the delicate nature of the issues at Geneva. He said his statement was intended to make a few things crystal clear.

The President said that the existing Western Hemisphere defense agreement, the North Atlantic Treaty agreement and defense agreements in the Pacific were created to assure the peaceful security of member nations. He said they were "to prevent likelihood of attack; they are not arrangements designed primarily for waging war."

Therefore, the President said Dulles' proposal for a Southeast Asian security arrangement was not new. It was merely a reaffirmation of previous principles, he added, and a "reminder to interested Asian friends that the United States was prepared to join with others in the application of these principles to the threatened area."

Dulles spent about two hours with President Eisenhower this morning. A reporter told him that events at Geneva had been widely interpreted as a "defeat" for the United States, and asked if he had any comment.

The secretary returned from Europe Tuesday night to begin the enormous task of developing congressional support for his policies, restoring Western unity, and creating the united front before Indochina is swept into the Communist fold by war or negotiation.

Holy Name Society Holds Chicken Fry

Fifty men, members of the Holy Name society of St. Mary's Catholic church, were present at a chicken fry held Tuesday evening at the Venice club. Ten altar boys were especially invited guests.

A business meeting followed with Don Leech presiding.

A report from the five delegates to the Holy Name conference of the Eldorado Deanery, held April 25 at Olney, was heard. Rev. G.
P. Lally, former pastor of St.
Mary's church of Harrisburg, was host. After the business session the assembly broke up into five workshops: 1—Apostolate of Holy Name men to non-Catholic men;
2—Apostolate of Holy Name men

ment of vocations to the Diocesan moderator. Definite conclusions resulted from the workshop discussions and resolutions will become

Approve Proposal to Permit Governors to Name Congressmen in Disaster Vacancies

By United Press

A proposed constitutional amendment designed to keep the government functioning in event of a national disaster, such as atomic attack, got started through Congress today.

A Senate Judiciary subcommittee approved a proposed amendment which would permit state governors to appoint congressmen if more than 145 vacancies should be created in the House by such a disaster.

Governors now cannot appoint members of the House; they only fill vacancies in the Senate by appointment.

The amendment is sponsored by Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.). He said lack of authority for governors to appoint members to the house represents a "constitutional gap in our national security."

Other developments:

GI athletes: Rep. William E.
Hess (R-Ohio) said there is some question whether some drafted nationally known athletes ever performed any military duties. He made the statement as his House subcommittee opened hearings into alleged Army coddling of athletes.

Farm: Agriculture Secretary
Ezra T. Benson tentatively asked Congress to consider a switch in the method of supporting dairy farm prices. He suggested that he might be given authority to make subsidy payments to support dairy farmers' income instead of supporting market prices of butter.

Taft-Hartley: President Eisenhower said he generally favors giving the states responsibility in labor matters. He favored this approach, he said, so long as rights under the Taft-Hartley Act are not damaged.

Housing: Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) kept up his campaign for information on those responsible for federal housing scandals. He asked housing chief Albert M. Cole to disclose those responsible for permitting builders to reap so-called "windfall" profits on apartment projects.

Seaway: The House began debate on the St. Lawrence Seaway bill for the first time in the three decades it has been an issue before Congress.

Unemployment Shows Decline During April

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unemployment declined last month for the first time since last October and employment gained again, informed sources said today.

The Commerce and Labor departments planned to issue their first joint report on employment and unemployment, covering April, Friday or Saturday.

Unemployment slowed down in March when it increased by only 54,000, as against from 400,000 to 700,000 for other recent months.

And government economists generally had interpreted previous economic reports for the latter part of March and early April as indicating unemployment had reversed
the upward trend started last fall.

Although manufacturers' business has picked up recently, unemployment still was concentrated among factory and mining workers.

Unemployment fell by about 90-000 in April, 1953, and by about 190,000 in April, 1952. The drop in the number of jobless was a whopping 600,000 in April, 1950, when the country was coming out of the 1949 recession.

Revised Commerce Department figures showed that unemployment climbed from 1,301,000 last October to 3,725,000 in March. The figures for the last four months of 1953 were revised upward because it was decided errors had been made on the conservative side when the Census Bureau was getting ready to switch from the old to the new survey system.

Daley Heads Cook County Democrats

CHICAGO (AP)—Cook County Clerk
Richard J. Daley was re-elected
Tuesday as chairman of the county Democratic organization.

Daley was unopposed for the post.

It is reported that the organization plans to run him for Chicago mayor in the election next spring.
Daley told party leaders that the Democrats demonstrated continued strength in the metropolitan area by polling 428,000 votes in the April 13 primary while Republicans got only 334,000.

It took Charles A. Lindbergh 33 hours to fly the Atlantic solo in 1927.

He little thought when leaving home
He would return no more,
That he in death so soon would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn
We do not know what pain he bore,
We did not see him die.
We only know he passed away,
And could not say good-bye.
Our hearts still ache with sadness,
Our eyes shed many a tear,
God alone knows how we miss him

A House Big Enough

Copyright 1954 by NEA Service, Inc.

By Gudren Olson

The path arched into the long shadow of the stately old white house. In spite of the gentle warmth of Indian summer, Elaine shivered as though suddenly an icy wind rushed across the fields from the flame-colored hills. Involuntarily, her feet lagged. She grasped Tom's hand more firmly, but with strange perversity the tender, answering pressure of his strong fingers seemed to crush the last fragment of her courage.

He slackened his pace, too, and glanced down at her questioning. An odd expression flashed across his open, weather-bronzed face and the muscles along his square jaw set defiantly. Then his clear blue eyes softened. His thin lips curved into the smile that, until now, had made everything else seem unimportant. "It might be a little rough at first, Lenny," he admitted. "But Ma is swell. Really swell. Ever since father died, she's been trying to marry me off. Long before Korea, even. Once she gets over the suddenness of it all. . . . His smile flattened out and his words trailed off, as though he, too, wondered how long it would take.

The knowledge that had darted in and out of all her thoughts ever since Tom had come back to her screamed in her mind once more. Yes, your mother wanted you to marry. But she had chosen Astrid Nelson for you. Astrid Nelson, of the Nelsons, who farm 350 acres down in the coulees on the other side of those beautiful wooded hills. Your mother will have apoplexy when she finds you've married me! Don't you know, Tom, that I'm even worse than a plain nobody? I'm Clem Allen's daughter. That, to Signe Dahlstrom, will be like waving a red blanket in front of your champion bull!

Fear pressed down on her. Memories, grown indistinct with their apparent unimportance, flooded through her mind with such vividness it might have been yesterday that she sang with the choir in the village church.

Mrs. Dahlstrom wasn't one to be gaping at the awkward teenagers scattered among the charter members of the group. But, from her obscure nook in the choirloft, Elaine could watch Mrs. Dahlstrom. There in the front pew, Sunday after Sunday, sat Tom's mother, straight as a fence-post and to all appearances as impassive. She never turned around to greet a neighbor or glance with curiosity at a new face.

By what witchery, Elaine often wondered, did this aloof woman hold the respect of all the villagers and farmers? It was quite evident the American ideal of equality meant nothing to her. Signe Dahlstrom acted like she considered herself several notches above everybody else. True, she gave a lot to the church. But, if she didn't like a sermon she complained about it right to the minister himself.

Just by looking at her aristocratic face and observing her proud carriage, one could tell that her story of noble ancestry was the truth. Her mother and father were that high on the social scale in Norway. They were royalty, almost.

It was the bravery and enterprise inherited from their Viking ancestors that had brought her family to America. But ties forever uncut bound them in loyalty to their homeland.

Although no one could say that Signe Amundsen Dahlstrom loved the Norway she had often visited as a child more than her home in Wisconsin, she was considered over-earn of her background. Yes, indeed, her parents were Norwegian nobility. They were not luckless fishermen or tillers of barren soil to whom, in their despair, the new country beckoned as a place where a man could make a decent living.

Yet, as though nobility must always seek its proper level above its own kind, the Amundsens had settled among these fishermen and hard-scrabble farmers. Signe Amundsen would never have married anyone but a man of Norwegian descent. Torvald Dahlstrom certainly was that. Of course, Clem Allen was fine for a partner at a country barn dance or a basket social.

Signe had been five years married to Torvald when Allen brought back his tiny, dark haired bride from the resort country in northern Wisconsin. Yes, five years, Signe had been Mrs. Dahlstrom, with one infant son buried in the little cemetery south of the village and little Tom already a husky boy, sturdy like all his mother's family. Yet there were still whisperings among the hills that Signe Dahlstrom never forgave Clem Allen for marrying someone else.

Elaine wondered if her father had known this. With the thought of him came the overwhelming loneliness she had felt the night of the car accident that took her father and mother.

Her mother had left her a rare legacy: The desire to make something of herself and the will to work for it. Her father had passed on to her some of his gaiety and cheerfulness. No matter what happened, it finally sparkled through. Sometimes in song. Sometimes in queer little dances, spontaneous and delightful to see. It was this gaiety and cheerfulness that took the grimness out of her will and made her friends happier somehow just to hear her say "Hello."

Between the accident and the funeral, Elaine made arrangements to work in the local restaurant for her room and board so she could finish her last year of high school. The existence had been rough. But nothing had been so difficult as this meeting Mrs. Dahlstrom and living with her was going to be.

Elaine shuddered. Every muscle in her slim body was stretched taut, fighting to calm the reverberation of her pounding heart. For a fleeting moment she almost wished that four years ago Tom hadn't paused in his stride over the "Hill" from the agriculture campus to grin encouragement at a timid little freshman from his home town. That Tom Dahlstrom would notice her, much less speak, was even more astounding than the fact that she was actually enrolled at the University of Wisconsin.

All her vitality seemed to ebb away under his gaze. Her books would have fallen from her grasp if he hadn't taken them from her. She was certain he heard the turbulent pounding of her heart. Shame at her lack of poise sent waves of hot blood to her cheeks. Certainly, he must be inwardly laughing at her. But, with the inherent kindness that was one of his most lovable qualities, he kept his eyes on the gold-crowned elms above them until her blush subsided.

A few minutes later he was studying her over the rim of a coffee mug in the Ratzkellar. The smile glowing subtly in his blue eyes told her that he could learn to like a small, dark haired girl with a short, straight nose. Abruptly Madison became a neighborly town and the books stacked at her elbow lost their formidability.

He left for Lamp Bragg a few weeks later. The campus seemed empty and desolate.

His first letters from Korea seemed to be only the formal lines of a lonely boy shyly pleading for notice at Mail Club. Then as the months crawled into years, his letters gradually revealed something deeper. It was such an incredible thing. Yet, by some twist of fate, she had been Mrs. Tom Dahlstrom for nine days. And now she was terrified.

They reached the back of the house. Elaine clutched Tom's hand like an exhausted swimmer gripping a floating log. Something seemed to thrust her behind him and pull back when he drew her up the three steps to the porch. And the woman holding the screen door open.

"Hi, Ma!" Tom kissed the smooth, tanned cheek. Then he met her puzzled gaze proudly. A little of Elaine's terror slid away. "This is Elaine, Ma," he said. "Lenny" to us."

Elaine felt his strong, reassuring arm around her and her inner trembling subsided. This wasn't going to be as difficult as she thought. Tom drew her close to him and she sensed a certain exultant wonder in his voice when he added, more to her than to his mother, "My wife!"

Mrs. Dahlstrom winced as though her son had struck her. A look of almost physical torture distorted her handsome face. Her blue eyes flooded with disappointment, cruel disappointment. As though Tom's announcement had taken away her strength, her arm dropped slumped ominously behind Signe Dahlstrom.

Second Airlift To Indochina

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—The U. S. Air Force in Europe today announced the start of a second airlift of French troop reinforcements from France to the Indo-chinese battlefields.
Simultaneously, it was disclosed that a British charter airline is airlifting supplies to French forces in the Southeast Asian conflict.
The troop airlift is the second in two weeks undertaken by giant American C-124 Globemasters diverted from an American air base in Washington state.
The London disclosure of a charter plane airlift of supplies brought both France's major Western allies into further support of French efforts to stem the Communist tide in Southeast Asia.

Looking AT Sports

By BILL MELTON

Here are the answers to the baseball quiz published in this column Tuesday.

1. Jim Greengrass. 2. Marty Marion, three errors, June 19, 1940.
3. Bench. 4. All play second base with exception of Regalado, who is a third baseman. 5. Cardinals-Browns. 6. Charley Robertson, April 30, 1922. If you had a score of more than 20, send your name in to "Quiz Editor," The Sporting News, 2018 Washington Ave., St. Louis, Mo., and you'll get a free copy of the National Baseball Weekly.

Well, now that you have checked the answers, are you an expert?

Carrier Mills, participating in track and field this season for the first time in several years, will be represented in the district meet at S. I. U. this week-end by a 14-man squad. In addition to entries in most of the individual events, Coach Claude Shelton plans to enter two relay teams. The following C. M. Boys will be entered in the district: Craig Redwine, Corbett, M. Cole, S. Cole, Dorris, Allen, Hooven, Reeder, Berns, Sweat, Rollins, Hill and Fitts.

Read in the Southern Illinoisan recently that a decathlon is being planned by Herrin high school officials for late this month. A decathlon is a 10-event individual track competition and is very rare in high school circles. Athletes normally compete in five field and five running events. Two hurdle events, two dashes and one distance race probably will comprise the track events. Field events are expected to be the shot put, discus, high jump, pole vault and broad jump. The decathlon would be the way to determine who is the best all-around track man in southern Illinois.

These are the records district tracksters will be shooting at this week:
100—Payton, Carrier Mills, (1934) time 9.9.

- 220—Lambert, Harrisburg, (1927); Payton, Carrier Mills, (1932); Turner, Anna-Jonesboro, (1932); Robinson, Cairo (1942); Kahn, Cairo (1953). Time—22.5.
440—Begg, Vienna (1937), time—51.0.
880—Branch, Mounds Douglass (1953). Time 1:59.4.
1 Mile—Pitchers, Equality (1953). Time 4:26.5.
High hurdles—Neal, Benton (1950). Time 15.0.
Low hurdles—McIntyre, Pinckneyville (1952). Time 20.2.
Shot put—Bauer, Benton (1950). Distance—58.8.
Discus—Bauer, Benton (1950). Distance—162.5.
High jump—Yates, Johnston City, height, 6-13.
Broad jump—Yates, Johnston City (1936). Distance 22-4 1/2.
Pole vault—Moore, Carbondale (1952). Height, 12-3-4.
Varsity 880 relay—Herrin (1932-1935). Time 1:34.
1 Mile relay—Mounds Douglass, (1953). Time 3:37.8.

John Kerr, captain and all-time high-scoring center of the 1954 University of Illinois basketball team, will receive the Big Ten's most valuable player award during the conference outdoor track relays in Memorial Stadium at U. of I. Saturday.

Incidentally, the double attraction at the U. of I. stadium Saturday, the Big Ten relays and the Illinois' intra-squad spring football game, can be seen for just $1 for adults and 60 cents for students. The relays starts at 1 p. m. and the football game at 3.

Vishinsky Sails For Home; Believe He Will Retire

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky sailed today for home and possible retirement.

The 70-year-old Soviet representative said he was going on home leave because he was tired and that he would be back in "six weeks or so."

But there was widespread speculation in United Nations quarters that the veteran diplomat, prosecutor of the 1937 Russian purge trials and close friend of the late Josef Stalin, was going into retirement.

Vishinsky has been the topmost Soviet figure at the United Nations during most of its eight-year history. He was Soviet foreign minister until the death of Stalin when he was "demoted" to his current post.

U. N. observers believed Vishinsky would definitely return if the Indochina problem is taken up by the United Nations before the General Assembly session opens next Sept. 21.

But there was no prospect of Indochina coming up before the end of the Geneva Far Eastern conference.

Bull Dogs Beat Ridgway, 5-1

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs beat Ridgway, 5 to 1, yesterday afternoon at the town park diamond in a tightly pitched but loosely played ball game.

Darrel Powell, on the mound for Harrisburg, gave up but three hits and the locals were able to get but two of the hurrying of John Mills, Al Penman's pitcher. Ronnie Bean and Fred Kinnaman were behind the plate for Harrisburg and Don Rider caught for the Gallatin county boys.

There was no scoring until the last of the fourth inning, when Harrisburg put over four runs. However, Ridgway had Rider on third with no outs in the third, but he was trapped between third and home and the locals came out unscathed.

And back in the second Harrisburg missed a scoring chance when Ed Miller was safe on an error and went to third on Tom Golden's hard hit to the outfield. But a pop-up ended this threat.

Harrisburg's four runs came this way:

Russ McDowell walked and stole second, Miller walked and Golden singled to left again, scoring McDowell. On a wild throw Miller scored. Powell hit to the third baseman and Golden was thrown out at the plate, but Jim Cummins walked and Kenneth Dunn hit to the shortstop, scoring Powell. Wayman Heffer was called safe at first on a ground ball and Jim Cummins scored.

Charlie Barter started off the sixth with a sound two-base hit to right field, and after stealing third base scored on a wild pitch to give Ridgway its run.

Last Harrisburg run came in the seventh and final inning when Golden walked, went to third on two outs and scored when the Ridgway third baseman dropped Jim Cummins' easy pop-up.

The locals play at Marion tonight to end their regular season. Tomorrow evening the Harrisburg subdistrict meet will start with Harrisburg meeting Equality. Friday Shawneetown and Carrier Mills will tangle.

Rookie Bob Trice Wins Fourth Game for Athletics; Phils Beat Cardinals, 14-10

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

Broad-shouldered Bob Trice, the serious Bible-reading pitcher for the Athletics, was a strong early-season candidate for "rookie of the year" honors today, because he also has a "good book" on American league hitters.

The 6-foot, 3-inch right hander won his fourth game without a defeat Tuesday night, setting back the heavy-hitting Indians, 3-2 on eight hits. He now has given up a total of only seven runs in his four triumphs and has yet to need the relief help. He previously beat the Yankees 1-0, Baltimore 5-1, and Boston 6-4, and had two straight victories late last season.

Trice, a conscientious Bible student, thinks his religion gives him moral inspiration, but emphasized that "You've got to work on those hitters, too."

Last season when he broke in as the first Negro ever to play for the Athletics, he was beaten 5-2 by the Browns. He was advised at the finish that he not only had not walked a batter, but had not permitted three balls on any hitter.

White Sox Win

"I was making 'em too good," he said. "I didn't want to have control trouble, but I guess you have to try to make the hitters go for a bad pitch now and then, too."

Tuesday night he walked three

Mims Favored Over Johnson Tonight

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Versatile, experienced Holly Mims of Washington, D. C., was rated a 7-5 choice today over rapidly-rising George Johnson of Trenton, N. J., for tonight's nationally televised and broadcast middleweight bout at the Coliseum.

But Johnson, who sprang to prominence with a recent spectacular technical knockout of Moses Ward, will enter the ring for the 10-round scrap riding a 17-bout winning streak.

The New Jersey battler, who holds both the middleweight and welterweight titles in his home state, started his streak back on May 28, 1952 when he knocked out one Dale Evans in three rounds at Wilmington, Del., and altogether has won 27 of his 30 professional matches.

Illini Defeat SIU Nine, 7-4

By United Press
Illinois won and Northwestern lost in two non-conference baseball games Tuesday.

The Illini rapped Southern Illinois University, 7-4. Catcher Tom Scott and first baseman Bob Wiman hit homers, and Ron West slammed a triple with the bases loaded to lead the Illinois attack.

Great Lakes outslugged Northwestern, 12-11. Jerry O'Dwyer's double with two on and two out in the last inning was the deciding blow.

Campanella Undergoes Operation on Wrist

BROOKLYN (AP)—Roy Campanella, a very impatient patient, hoped to check out of Long Island College Hospital today after what doctors described as a "successful" operation on his left wrist.

Dr. Herbert Felt, an orthopedic surgeon, removed a bone chip from the wrist of the Dodgers' star catcher in an hour-long operation Tuesday afternoon and the repeated his previous prediction that Roy will be able to resume playing in less than four weeks.

Dr. Felt planned to examine the incision this morning and he said that Campanella probably would be permitted to go home sometime later in the day.

Juliette Gordon Low founded Girl Scouting in the United States on March 12, 1912 in Savannah, Ga., with a few girls forming the first troop. In 1953, the organization had a membership of over 2 million girls and adults.

and struck out five. The only big blow was a homer by Al Rosen. Gus Zernial provided the winning tally, driving in his first run since April 19 in the eighth after Joe Demaestri singled and Spook Jacobs walked.

The White Sox took a game and a half toe-hold on the American league lead over idle Detroit with an 8-6 victory at Washington in which Minnie Minofo hit the first grand slam home run in the loop this season. The blow, which climaxed a five-run second inning uprising in which all scores were unearned, came a bit of lefty Billy Pierce to struggle through to his second victory without a defeat.

Phils Top Cardinals, 14-10

In the limited National league action, lefty Warren Spahn of the Braves defeated the Pirates 6-1, striking out 12 in 37 degree weather at Milwaukee while the Phils topped the Cardinals 14-10 in 11 innings at St. Louis where two new major league records were set. Baltimore at New York and Detroit at Boston in the American and Brooklyn at Chicago and New York at Cincinnati in the National were postponed.

Joe Adcock drove in two runs with a homer and single and Andy Pafko brought home a pair with two sacrifice flies in Spahn's third triumph.

The Cards used eight pitchers and the Phils seven to break the old major league mark of 14 in a game while the Cards used 22 players and the Phils 20 for a total of 42, breaking the old mark of 41. A sacrifice fly by Del Ennis, a double by Johnny Wyrostek and a two-run single by Bobby Morgan accounted for the Philly runs in the 11th after Rip Repulski and Sal Yvars doubled in succession to send the game into extra frames in the ninth for St. Louis.

Tuesday's Star: Rookie Bob Trice of the Athletics who gained his fourth straight victory, an eight-hit, 3-2 triumph over the Indians.

A NEW MORE POWERFUL GASOLINE!

PHILLIPS 66

Flite-Fuel

FOR YOUR CAR

Phillips is the first to bring you a gasoline with the added super aviation fuel component—Di-isopropyl (pronounced di-iso-pro-pull). This is a Phillips exclusive developed originally for highest powered military aircraft.

Today, start enjoying the exciting step-up in performance you get from new Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL containing Di-isopropyl.

Phillips was the first to make Di-isopropyl and HF Alkylate—so valuable to smooth motor performance that, until recently, their use was restricted by the U. S. Government to high performance aviation gasoline. Now authorities have removed restrictions, and these powerful aviation components can be blended into Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL.

New Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL provides increased power, smoother acceleration, higher anti-knock performance, greater fuel economy and freedom from cold stalling... plus famous Phillips 66 controlled volatility. And thanks to the clean burning qualities of Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL, you don't need a special additive to combat spark plug fouling.

Only Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL contains added Di-isopropyl. Get it at stations where you see the orange and black Phillips 66 Shield.

Capital Braces For Probable Fall Of French Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—The capital is bracing itself for the probable fall of Dien Bien Phu and is trying feverishly to determine what the effects may be, not only in Indochina but throughout Asia and Europe.

Dien Bien Phu, a crossroads in the remote north of Indochina, is the stronghold where the French high command elected to wage a battle of decision with the Viet Minh Communists. The French loudly invited the rebel attack which now reportedly may swallow up the gallant garrison of Brig. Gen. Christian De Castries.

What has turned into the biggest battle of the eight-year war was to be an important part of French Gen. Henri Eugene Navarre's plan for defeating the Reds. American officials supported the plan with military equipment and confidently predicted eventual military victory over the Communists in Indochina.

Morale Effects
Against the background, it will be hard to put a good face on the loss of Dien Bien Phu, if the beleaguered "fortress" finally succumbs.

American authorities argue that, on military grounds alone, the stronghold itself is not too important. The French certainly would remain strong in Indochina without the garrison, which authorities say involves no more than 5 per cent of the high command's total strength.

But military factors cannot be viewed apart from the psychological and political aspects. Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has said on that score that the loss of Dien Bien Phu "would affect millions of Asiatics who are wavering on the fence. . . . These effects are almost beyond calculation." There is similar American apprehension about the morale effects in France and the shot-in-the-arm a victory would give the Reds at Geneva.

16 Dead, 20 to 50 Italian Miners Trapped by Blast

GROSSETO, Italy (AP)—Rescue workers dug feverishly through tons of rock today in a desperate effort to reach 20 to 50 miners believed trapped 1,000 feet underground by a gas explosion.

The bodies of 16 miners were dragged from the blasted coal mine by grimy rescue workers Tuesday. Thirteen others were pulled out alive but with serious injuries.

The blast ripped through the mine at Ribolla, 25 miles from here, early Tuesday. The explosion collapsed the roof on several shafts and started an underground landslide, according to rescue workers.

It was not definitely known how many miners were entombed by the explosion. The timekeeper and his records were missing. Police said as many as 50 men might be trapped, but government officials said they believed there were only 20.
